

Annapolis Valley Regional School Board

Working Together for Students

March 1, 2018

Dear Parents and Guardians,

Earlier today, the provincial government introduced legislation that will result in a number of changes to the administration and governance of the education system. I want to share information with you that may answer some questions you may have.

The upcoming changes are intended to streamline and focus the education system on student success, and ensure provincial education policies and programs are delivered equitably and consistently for all students across the province, regardless of where they live or go to school.

These changes will shift resources from administration and governance into classrooms, and create a solid foundation for other improvements; most significantly, increased support for all students through a new model for inclusive education. The independent report of the Commission on Inclusive Education will be presented to government before the end of March.

Today, government introduced new legislation, called the Education Reform Act. Changes proposed in this legislation include:

- Your local school board offices and staff will remain and be renamed regional education centres. These centres will continue to make the same regional and local decisions (such as busing and snow days) that we do now.
- Math and Literacy teaching support specialists will spend more time working directly with classroom teachers to support student learning.
- More resources will move from current board offices into classrooms.
- My title will change to Regional Executive Director of Education. My primary responsibility is to focus on student learning and achievement.
- Governing school boards are being dissolved as of March 31. Please contact our offices with any questions you would have previously contacted your school board member about.
- You will also have access to an ombudsperson at the Ombudsman's Office to resolve concerns or complaints about education.
- School Advisory Councils (SACs) will be supported to advance local priorities for their communities. We will be consulting with schools and current SACs this spring on what supports are needed, funding, and how to ensure diversity in membership.

Letter to Parents and Guardians

March 1, 2018

- The quality of teaching is the most significant contributor to student achievement. Government will work with teachers and the Nova Scotia Teachers Union on teaching and leadership standards.
- Government will work with parents/guardians, teachers and the Nova Scotia Teachers Union on ways to more effectively support extracurricular activities in schools and other strategies including French language education, rural education, educational needs of new immigrants, students living in poverty, and children in care.

To contact our office now or in future, please call 902.538.4600. More information on the work to improve the education system is available at www.novascotia.ca/educationsystem.

Sincerely,

Roberta Kubik

Superintendent of Schools
